

I Am Yours (a wedding song) - James Woolwine

(verse 1)

It's finally time. I get to spend the rest of my life with you.
Our wedding day. It's been a long and winding way that brought us here from that awkward date, now face to face. You're glowing and I melt.
Let's wear these rings then hand in hand share the biggest dreams.
Together we can do anything. The perfect team. Now let's kiss and turn to start our way.

(chorus)

On this path we take there will be storms. We may get blown off course.
But we've found our guides, now as one let's soar. For you are mine and I am yours.

(verse 2)

Love isn't blind. It's crystal clear when you finally find the one.
Sometimes it hurts. We're puzzled pieces feeling out what works.
Each one unique in our points and curves, but mine fit with yours.
Rough halves make one smooth whole.
Now look in my eyes. You'll see our home full of little smiles.
Then we're alone holding on so tight. The years float by.
Two canes lean together by our door.

(chorus)

Like weathered trees with searching vines we've grown and intertwined.
Now through sun and storm as one we'll climb. For I am yours and you are mine.

(bridge)

Now over time a love can dull or fade. Years added up may wear us down; but if we're strong our love will find a way. You have shown me how.

(chorus)

So this path we'll make can throw us storms that blow us from our course;
but we've found our guides, now as one let's soar. For you are mine and I am yours. Oh, you are mine and I am yours.

copyright 2017 James Woolwine