

NOT YOUR ENEMY- James Woolwine, Paula Karahalis

(verse 1)

Many people preach all that is was meant to be. That's not much relief when reasons why are hard to see.

They tell you to forget all your mistakes and move along. It's hard to not regret when so many things were wrong.

(prechorus)

Try to withstand your fight, I know you can if you let me lend a hand.

(chorus)

Your faith is shaken because the world has taken so much without return.

You feel like dying but don't stop trying to let yourself be heard.

Put your faith in me. I'll help you find your peace. Can't you see I'm not your enemy?

(verse 2)

It's been so many years and there's so much I want to say but you won't even hear and I can't find a way.

I've suffered your attacks and I'm ready to give up but I won't turn my back and let you self destruct.

(prechorus 2)

I'll lend a hand any way I can. Help me understand.

(chorus, same)

(bridge)

I'm someone you can trust. If only you would just open up your heart and let me in.

(chorus, same)

(alternate verse)

I want to intervene and be there as you grieve
the shattered youthful dreams of all you hoped to be;
and a world without strife where we would never fail;
but this is real life and not some fairy tale.
